Interpretive Text

Questions 11, 12, 13, 30, 31 and 32 were not completed. Compared to others diagnosed with OCD, this individual scored in the: Moderate range for total OCD symptoms (obsessions and compulsions). Based on the total impairment score the individual is in the: Severe range for OCD, and experiences severe levels of distress due to OCD symptoms.

Scoring and Interpretation Information

A raw score for each compulsion and obsession subscale is provided as output, along with raw scores for total impairment (range 0-48) and total symptoms (range 0-40). Each subscale and total score are also presented as percentiles based on parents' responses for a sample of children referred to an OCD clinic (Uher et al., 2008). A percentile of 50 is the average parent reported score for a child with OCD. Higher total impairment scores indicate higher levels of severity/distress related to OCD symptoms, whilst higher total symptoms scores indicate greater complexity and pervasiveness of OCD symptoms. Each subscale is computed as

Client Responses

Each of the following questions asks you about things or "habits" you feel your son/daughter has to do although (s)he may know that they do not make sense. Sometimes, (s)he may try to stop from doing them but this might not be possible. (S)he might feel worried or angry or frustrated until (s)he has finished what (s)he has to do. An example of a habit like this may be the need to wash his/her hands over and over again even though they are not really dirty, or the need to count up to a special number (e.g. 6 or 10) while (s)he does certain things.

1 Please answer each question by choosing how much you agree with the statement, or how much you think it is true of your son/daughter. Please answer each item, without spending too much time on any one item. There are no right or wrong answers.

- (S)he spends far too much time washing his/her hands over and over again.
